Camp David Conference

Johnson's Policy Discussion Hints New Move In Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential policy conference at Camp David indicates new decisions on the U.S. role in the Vietnamese war may be in the making.

One question believed to be under top-level consideration is whether U.S. air attacks on military bases in North Viet Nam should be carried deeper into that country. So far they have been restricted to the southern regions, well away from the capital, Hanoi.

Wednesday night's conference at the presidential retreat in the mountains of western Maryland brought together President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and McGeorge Bundy and Bill D. Moyers, White House aides.

The topic for the meeting was not announced but it was understood that the major subject, at least, was Viet Nam and that Camp David was chosen by the President because it afforded a relaxed atmosphere in which he and his chief advisers could talk out the whole complex of problems associated with the South-east Asian conflict.

These include the efforts by many other countries, including Britain, France and the Soviet Union, to initiate peace talks; political and military conditions inside South Viet Nam, which U.S. officials are said to consider difficult and disappointing but not hopeless, and the Johnson administration's desire for support from other countries in the struggle in Viet Nam.

The central problem constantly before Johnson and his chief diplomatic and military advisers, however, is how to bring enough pressure on Communist North Viet Nam to persuade the leaders in Hanoi to halt the infiltration of troops and arms into the South to reinforce the Viet Cong guerrilla fighters trying to take over the country.

U.S. combat planes began attacking the North Feb. 7. The raids were described initially as retaliation for Communist guerrilla attacks on U.S. installations in the South and on South Vietnamese troops.

The strategy behind the air strikes, however, was to make North Viet Nam feel the destructive force of U.S. military power in Southeast Asia. Implicit in the operations from the beginning was the possibility that if the North Vietnamese

Vote On Language Due

Medicare Eyed By House Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee begins voting today on the language of a comprehensive health care bill for the aged. House passage in about two weeks is predicted.

The forecast of passage was made Wednesday by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., who said he hopes the committee can make its essential decisions by Friday.

This would permit House action during the week of March 22. Mills told members of the Senior Citizens Golden Ring Council.

Mills withheld details of the draft legislation but confirmed in general terms reports of a multifaceted bill on which a majority of the committee had agreed informally.

"I am thoroughly convinced that what the committee will report in the next few days and the House will pass a few days thereafter will provide a more complete solution of the problems people face — not exclusively those over 65 — than any other program suggested to us," he said.

Mills said the draft bill includes the basic administration proposal, a hospitalization plan financed by a pay-roll tax, also an additional plan for further health expenses, an increase in the Social Security old-age payments, and a broadening of the existing state-federal programs for health care of indigent and low-income persons.

Reference to benefits for some under 65 apparently referred to this part of the package, which could include health care of dependent children.

President Johnson sent Wednesday's meeting a message that "the long debate is drawing to a close. There is going to be a program of health insurance for older people in this country."

Primary Vote Slated May 4

Campaign 'Heating Up' On Four Ohio Proposals

By The Associated Press

Primary Day, May 4 — when four controversial proposals to amend the state constitution are to be resolved by Ohio voters — is more than eight weeks away, but the heat of campaigning already is approaching a fever pitch.

Take Wednesday, for instance: Two groups are formed to oppose the legislative reapportionment amendment.

House Democratic leader A. G. Liancone accuses the Republican administration of ordering deputy automobile registrars to distribute literature boosting passage of the issues.

Gov. James A. Rhodes condemns what he calls an "atmosphere of bickering and despair" and says he can't see how anyone could oppose the amendments.

Democratic Sen. Charles L. Pancake of Nelsonville introduces a bill — apparently with tongue in cheek — to appropriate $339,000 so that Democrats can have "equal use of state money."

The amendments propose a $250 million bond issue for capital improvements, reapportionment of the Ohio House, Industrial financing by the state and state-guaranteed loans to college students.

One of the new groups formed Wednesday, the Ohio Fair Apportionment Committee said it opposes the reapportionment amendment because the proposal, among other things, fails to establish clear, concise guidelines for apportioning the seats of the Ohio House.

The group's objections to the amendment were listed in a bill of particulars signed by seven political science professors.

Also announced Wednesday was the formation of an 11-man committee of Democratic House members to oppose the reapportionment amendment.

Liancone, in leveling his charges at the Rhodes administration, said facts concerning the distribution of political literature along with license plates were being covered up by state officials.

The "literature" to which Liancone referred was a pamphlet urging a favorable vote for the constitutional amendments. The pamphlet was prepared by the Ohioans for Jobs and Progress Committee.

Liancone said the registrars, at a meeting in Columbus last month, were ordered by unnamed state officials to pass out the literature with license plates.

Earlier in the day, state Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman, the man who started the controversy last week by

GOP Spurs Negro Right To Cast Vote

Seeks To Translate Into Legislation Its Call For Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders move today toward translating into legislation their call for federal action to assure Negroes the right to register and vote.

The new Republican coordinating committee said in its initial statement Wednesday it was outraged at the denial "by force and fraud" of Negro voting rights. It set a goal of assuring every citizen his constitutional rights in this field before the 1966 elections.

The coordinating group is composed of congressional leaders, governors, former presidential candidates and national committee members. It announced its support for President Johnson's course in South Viet Nam. It denounced Democratic "disruptive voices of appeasement," which it said, "undercut the President."

But it added: "Our task force on foreign policy shall have as one of its major objectives the examination of some of the most massive failures in foreign policy in recent American history — the consolidation of the Communist beachhead in Cuba, the expansion of Communist influence and control in Africa and the Near East, the deterioration of the Atlantic Alliance."

A task force on human rights also is to be named but Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan indicated they think the GOP civil rights position will be established firmly before it can get into operation.

Dirksen said in an interview he expects to meet with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to go over proposed drafts of voting rights legislation. He forecast introduction of a Republican bill by next Tuesday.

Ford said a House task force expects to reach agreement on a bill soon, working with Dirksen on its terms.

Although former Vice President Richard M. Nixon told a news conference Wednesday the Johnson administration "has dragged its feet on voting rights legislation," Dirksen said he could not agree.

Noting that he was trying to cooperate with the administration in this field, Dirksen said: "I'd rather not throw stones."

Plant-Level Issues Eyed In Steel Talks

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Basic steel negotiators moved quickly today to settle plant-level complaints so they could get down to the major issues of wages and job security.

Separate negotiating sessions between the United Steelworkers Union and the "Big 11" steel producers resumed Tuesday after a two-month recess forced by the union's still unresolved election.

Many of these meetings, which each involved scores of people, broke up Wednesday into smaller groups.

This signaled the start of tough, head-to-head bargaining on local complaints, a vital issue this year since the union says it won't sign a contract unless they are settled.

Closing out of the "big meeting" phase underscored the eagerness of both sides to reach agreement on a new contract before the May 1 strike deadline.

$282,502 Bid On Pughtown Water Project

Contractors' Total Is $26,597 Under Engineer Estimate

Low bids totaling $282,502 — $26,597 under estimates — were received when the Pughtown Public Service District opened offers on a water distribution system at a public meeting Wednesday night at the Grange Hall.

The three-man Board of Trustees opened the offers, including 13 on the main construction, six on a 300,000-gallon storage tank and four on meters, at the meeting which attracted some 75 Pughtown residents, contractors and representatives of A. R. Todd & Associates of Wheeling, the engineers.

The Todd firm had estimated the project, which includes purchase of water from the village of New Cumberland and distribution to some 280 homes and businesses, Oak Glen High School and Hancock County Children's Home, at $309,100.

The bids were turned over to the engineering firm for tabulation and recommendations.

Atty. Edwin Flowers, a trustee, estimated it would take "at least" 60 days after the contracts are awarded before construction can begin.

When definite costs are determined, the trustees must seek financing of revenue bonds from bonding firms and then appear before the West Virginia Public Service Commission for final approval of the project.

Opening of the bids culminates about two years of planning and discussion on the project.

The apparent low bidder for construction of the distribution system, booster pump station and foundation for the storage tank was Nardel Construction Co. of Bridgeville, Pa., with an offer of $251,832.

The next lowest was Construction, Inc., of Youngstown with a bid of $268,429. Four of the 13 bidders were under the engineers' estimate of $276,000.

Thomas Tanks, Inc., of Columbus submitted the low offer of $21,334 for the storage tank. It also bid $3.35 a foot on fencing, but the trustees said the figure was not significant.

Sheriff's Motion Rejected

King Cleared Of Contempt As Rights Hearings Begin

Led March Of Negroes On Tuesday

Decision Awaited On Interference In Demonstrations

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A federal judge rejected today a motion by Sheriff James G. Clark of Dallas County that Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., leader of a massive Negro voter drive, be held in contempt for leading a street march at Selma.

"Any contempt or order to show cause is a matter between this court and the alleged contemnor," said U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.

The motion by Clark's attorneys came at the outset of a hearing on a move by civil rights leaders and the Justice Department for an order barring interference with peaceful demonstrations.

The motion for a contempt proceeding against King was based on his leading a Tuesday march of about 2,500 Negroes and white clergymen from a Selma church to a meeting with state troopers. King turned back when halted by the troopers.

Johnson had ordered civil rights leaders to suspend their planned march from Selma to Montgomery. He gave no indication today whether he considered the attempted march a violation of his order.

The meeting of King and the troopers and the peaceful ending of the march were prearranged with the aid of federal officials. A similar march Sunday was broken up when troopers clubbed and tear-gassed the marchers.

While the hearing went on, about 100 demonstrators continued a prayer vigil in a Selma street for a white minister lying near death after a beating by a white gang.

King was called as a witness. So were Clark and Col. Albert J. Lingo, commander of state troopers. Other witnesses included the mother and grandfather of Jimmie Lee Jackson, a Negro laborer shot to death Feb. 18 in racial violence.

There were three other developments on the Alabama racial scene:

1. Selma's public safety director, Wilson Baker, announced the arrest of three white men on charges of beating three white Unitarian ministers who came to Selma to participate in the march.

West Virginia Senate Okays Gambling Bill

House Action Due; Dog Race Measure May Be In 'Trap'

CHARLESTON — A bill to toughen West Virginia's laws against gamblers and racketeers rested with the House Judiciary Committee today, its chances only slightly improved with Wednesday's passage in the Senate.

Meantime, the dog racing bill may be trapped in a Senate kennel from which it will not emerge in time to cross the legislative finish line.

A few hours after 57-43 House passage of the bill Wednesday to legalize dog tracks with pari-mutuel betting, the Senate sent the measure to its Finance Committee.

The same committee has not acted on a similar dog racing bill sponsored by Sen. William Tompos, D-Hancock.

How the anti-gambling bill would fare in the House remained in doubt, considering the Senate's meager 19-15 margin of approval Wednesday.

With early action by the House committee and special handling on the floor the bill still could reach a vote in the House before the legislature's adjournment deadline at midnight Saturday.

Senate voting showed the bill lost a few allies by including a provision to ban bingo games, which for years have been big money-makers for social clubs, civic groups and some church organizations.

Major provisions in the measure define what an illegal gambling device is and make it a misdemeanor to possess such a device.

This clause has been heartily sought by prosecutors who have complained that existing law does not outlaw possession of gaming equipment and requires lawmen to prove the machines were being used for illegal gambling.

Among the more critical changes the bill would make would be to outlaw slot and multi-coin pinball machines. It would make it a misdemeanor merely to possess such machines.

The rewritten bill sent to the House largely is the work of Republican senators — Minority Leader John E. Carrigan of Sherrard and Chester R. Hubbard of Wheeling.

3 Held In Selma Beating

White Minister Remains Critical

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A white minister was near death today in a hospital, his anxious wife near his side, while in Selma three white men faced state and federal charges in the beating given him and two other Unitarian clergymen.

The Rev. James J. Reeb, 38, of Boston, still was unconscious from a clubbing he received Tuesday night in Selma as the aftermath of a civil rights march there.

His wife, Marie, was with him at the hospital, pale and shaken by what had happened.

The mother of four children told newsmen Wednesday after her arrival from Boston that both she and her husband had been aware of the potential danger when he took the trip South.

"I said I would prefer that he didn't go," she said, her lips quivering slightly. "But he felt he had to go."

Mrs. Reeb said her husband considered the civil rights cause important enough to merit the beating he received at the hands of white men outside a Selma cafe.

Reeb was with the Rev. Orloff F. Miller, 25, of Boston, and the Rev. Clark Olson, 32, of Berkeley, Calif., at the time. Miller and Olson escaped serious injury.

Three men were arrested in connection with the incident and pickup orders were issued for a fourth man still at large.

Two of the men were released from Selma city jail early today on bond of $7,500 each on charges of assault with intent to murder.

Then the two Selma men, William Stanley Hoggie, 36, and Elmer Cook, 41, were taken into custody by FBI agents on federal warrants charging conspiracy to violate the ministers' civil rights. Shortly afterward a U.S. commissioner released them on bonds of $5,000.

A third Selma man, R. B. Kelley, 30, remained in city jail. Should he make bond there he would then be arraigned on the federal charge.

Demonstrations Continued

Demand Pushed For U.S. Intervention At Selma

By LARRY FRIEDMAN Associated Press Writer

More protest demonstrations were held in cities across the nation over the situation in Selma, Ala., with increasing demands for federal intervention.

As thousands marched in sympathy with the drive by Alabama Negroes for voting rights, governors, senators and church groups spoke out Wednesday.

There were demands for stronger law-enforcement protection in the wake of the attack in Selma on three white ministers.

One of those clubbed, the Rev. James A. Reeb, 38, of Boston, was in critical condition in a Birmingham hospital.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, threatened a massive march on Washington unless President Johnson endorses new voting rights legislation and sends federal officers into Alabama by Sunday.

Corak Faces No Opponent In Mayor Bid

Mayor Eli Corak apparently has a "walk-in" for his third term as Midland's chief executive — he has no Democratic opponent for the May 18 primary and the Republicans did not even field a candidate.

Eighteen Democrats and six Republicans of Midland were among the some 1,000 Beaver County candidates who entered petitions for various offices in the primary elections before the filing deadline Tuesday afternoon.

With four seats open on Borough Council, the Democrats have eight candidates and the Republicans one.

Backed by the Borough Democratic Committee are two incumbents, William Vinovich and William Shovlin, and Peter Vukovich and Leonard Ware.

Other Democrats filing were Clem Newtz Jr., Mike Mamula, Newton Wildman and Jimmy Ferretjane.

The lone Republican candidate is Robert Komara. Joseph Hibbard, currently serving on Council, is the par-

Midland Area Scholar Fund Drive Slated

The residential solicitation for the Midland and Western Beaver "Dollars for Scholars" fund-raising campaign will be held Monday through Saturday.

Midland's three Parent-Teacher Associations and the Midland Junior Women's Club have been invited to help with the drive. Western Beaver organizations are also participating.

In this community effort, residents are urged to donate $1 per adult in the school district so that scholarships can be awarded to deserving students who need financial aid to further education after high school.

Funds collected in a district are awarded to the students of that district. Last year, five Midland and three Western Beaver students were presented scholarships.

A Tag Day has been scheduled for half a day each Monday and Tuesday in conjunction with the drive in Midland.

Other districts in the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of the East Liverpool Area include South Side near Hookstown, East Liverpool, Beaver Local, Wellsville and Oak Glen.

In 1963, the first year for the scholarships, $10,000 was raised and about 20 scholarships given; last year nearly $20,000 enabled award of about 45 scholarships.

Scholarships range up to $500 and are awarded on need, scholarship, leadership and past employment. The number of scholarships given depends mainly on the amount of funds raised.

Foundation trustees for Midland are Lester Trainer and Earl Rankin and for Western Beaver, Mrs. M. D. Renwick and James C. Britton.

Wellsville Group May Aid School

The possibility of conducting a beautification project for the rear of MacDonald School was discussed by the Wellsville Women's Civic Club Tuesday night in the O'Hara law offices.

Further investigation of the project will be made. A donation was made to the Heart Fund. A project was outlined to raise money or the club's annual $100 scholarship fund. At suggestion of Mrs. Jean Broderick for a membership drive, a "Guest Night" and white elephant sale were planned for the meeting April 13. Mrs. Martha McCune, president, was in charge.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Louise Lawton, Mrs. Ann Weekley, Mrs. Virginia Gitschier and Mrs. Pat Cornwell.

Proclamation Opens Hancock Seal Sales

Mayor Frank A. Rybka of Weirton has issued a proclamation officially opening the 1965 Easter Seal campaign for the Hancock County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. It will continue until Easter Sunday, April 18.

Easter Seals have been mailed. The mayor urged active participation in the fund campaign by all local residents.

Mrs. Boyd Allen is chairman for the campaign and Mrs. Edward MacKenzie co-chairman. Mrs. Richard Solomon is society president.

School Board Head Dies Of Asphyxiation

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A customer went into a service station in Struthers Wednesday and found Harold Booher, president of the Struthers board of education and operator of the service station, dead under the wheel of a truck.

Police said Booher had greased the truck on a hydraulic lift, and they were unable to determine why he was under the wheel.

2. About 350 civil rights demonstrators slept in the streets of Selma in 40-degree weather in a vigil for one of the beaten ministers, the Rev. James Reeb, 38, of Boston, who lay near death in a Birmingham hospital. It was the first nighttime demonstration in Selma in the almost eight weeks since the right-to-vote campaign began in this rich farm soil area known as the Black Belt. The vigil grew out of a night march which along with an earlier one was halted by Mayor Joe Smitherman and state police.

3. A cold rain brought an abrupt end to a demonstration in Montgomery by about 125 civil rights marchers before the Capitol building. Earlier, about 1,000 demonstrators tried to get into the Capitol to see Wallace, but were kept out by police. A homemade fire bomb was thrown onto a Negro house but was extinguished with little damage.

4. Former Florida Gov. LeRoy Collins, a personal representative of President Johnson, canceled a scheduled speech at the University of Florida and flew back to Selma.

The Danger Of Riot Rule

There is very grave danger in this country that mob demonstrations will stampede and ultimately prevail over constituted authority.

This should not be confused with majority rule, because in most instances the demonstrators represent only an insignificant minority.

But they are a vocal minority. They dramatize their cause with stridency. They march, they sit in and on occasions they even resort to violence.

Those whose responsibility it is to administer in an orderly, peaceful and constructive manner become the victims of pressures, tensions, abuse and even intimidation.

Latest to succumb to this sort of organized disrespect for authority is Clark Kerr, president of the University of California.

The Berkeley campus was the scene throughout the fall semester of student demonstrations in opposition to university administrative attempts to impose restrictions on campus political activities.

The students — a small minority of the campus enrollment — used signs and loud-speakers to agitate and abuse, and in early December they engaged in a sit-in demonstration that was forcibly broken up by police authorities sent in by California Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

About a year ago, William B. Levenson resigned as superintendent of Cleveland public schools ostensibly because he was unwilling to be caught up in the raging controversy over school integration in the civil rights movement.

No one could honestly suggest that students or civil rights leaders, or even others in various aspects of community life, do not at times have just grievances. But there are orderly procedures to negotiate and redress such grievances. And mob rule is not one of them.

JUSTICE and equality are key virtues in our way of life, but they will never be achieved by organized campaigns to discredit those who are trying fairly and impartially to discharge their responsibilities.

The American people may have to be awakened to the prevalence of injustice, but the awakening will never be achieved by the stampeding, strong-arm methods of the unjust, no matter on which side of the controversy they rear their heads.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Once upon a time the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed that "freedom of speech" does not include the right to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater.

Today the principle is being tested in Alabama, where the right to demonstrate has been insisted David Lawrence upon even in the face of the fact that street parades in a tense situation can incite to violence.

Plainly there is among the people a lack of understanding of fundamental constitutional principles. These give every citizen the right to express himself freely, though his views may be unpalatable to others but the moment the actual utterance of such views occurs under conditions which inflame people to violence, the law steps in and applies a restraining hand.

After a federal judge had issued a ruling on Tuesday ordering the parade from Selma to Montgomery to be deferred at least until Thursday, when a hearing would be held on the subject, the demonstrators insisted on going ahead anyhow in defiance of the court order.

YET THESE same demonstrators argue that they are being deprived of their civil rights and they evidently feel this gives them unlimited privilege to disturb the peace. When the police attempted a few days ago to break up the mob in Selma and took stern measures to do so, the officers were charged with "brutality."

Accusations were then voiced on the floor of Congress against the police and demands were made for the dispatch of federal troops to Alabama.

Most of those who spoke on the subject ignored the fundamental fact that the right to demonstrate does not include the right to incite anybody to violence.

Attorney General Katzenbach, in a question-and-answer period after a speech at the Women's National Press Club on Tuesday, rightly explained that the federal government does not have the constitutional power to send troops into any state unless there is a "total breakdown" of law and order and a "total unwillingness" by state officials to maintain order. He said that the primary responsibility for keeping the peace rests with the local authorities.

In the instances when the Kennedy administration sent troops to Alabama and Mississippi, the respective governors of those states were at least accused of having defied federal court orders on school integration. In the present case, the governor of the state warned against the march from Selma to Montgomery and sent state troopers to the scene to prevent disorder.

BASICALLY, the governor of Alabama was taking the same position the late President Kennedy took when he sent troops to restrain potential violence and enforce a federal court order. The purpose of the Alabama governor was to prevent violence and he had urged that the march on Montgomery be abandoned for the time being as a measure of safety.

Martin Luther King Jr., on the other hand, insisted upon leading the demonstrators for a brief march notwithstanding a federal judge's order that it be deferred until the case went through the normal judicial process.

The presence of state troopers prevented any disturbance of the peace on Tuesday. The Negro leader, in calling for the march, said:

"We have the right to walk the highways; we have the right to walk to Montgomery if our feet will get us there. I have no alternative, and I ask you to come with me. This was a difficult and painful decision to make. I know not what lies ahead. There may be beatings and there may be tear gas."

It's precisely the incitement to a situation requiring such measures which has always been recognized as being within the province of state or city police to deal with, even to the point of dispersing a "non-violent" demonstration which has proved dangerous to the peace of the community.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON issued a statement regretting the violence which occurred in Selma, Ala., on Sunday. He declared that "Americans everywhere join in deploring the brutality with which a number of Negro citizens of Alabama were treated when they sought to dramatize their deep and sincere interest in attaining the precious right to vote."

But the President guardedly omitted any criticism of the acts of the demonstrators who defied the police and caused the latter to use force. While Mr. Johnson defended the right to demonstrate, he failed to express any concern over the kind of disturbances of the peace that can and often do result from street demonstrations.

Many of the pressure groups claim that they are engaged in "non-violent" demonstrations. But, while this may be their intent and objective, their manner of conducting demonstrations often leads to violence.

The states have a constitutional right and obligation then to step in and order the dispersal of the demonstrators. This is the true "law of the land" today.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, March 11, the 70th day of 1965. There are 295 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1888, the great blizzard of '88, hit the Eastern states. An 84-mile gale raised snow drifts from 10 to 30 feet and before the snow let up on March 14, more than 400 persons had died.

On this date: In 1847, John Chapman — famed in history as "Johnny Appleseed," died.

In 1865, Gen. William Sherman occupied Fayetteville, N.C.

In 1915, British orders were issued to prevent commodities from reaching or leaving Germany.

In 1938, Nazi armies crossed the Austrian frontier.

In 1943, the British Royal Air Force bombed the German city of Stuttgart.

Ten years ago — The United States agreed to allow 11 Soviet student editors to enter as visitors.

Five years ago — The Pioneer 5 was launched from Cape Canaveral.

One year ago — Russia charged that a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane shot down over East Germany had been on a spying mission.

It's Business As Usual For Crime Cartel

By VICTOR RIESEL

Behind the presidential crime message is a series of fantastic reports from such men as J. Edgar Hoover and racket-smashing Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., which actually made Johnson shudder at the unbelievable extent of the organized underworld.

In effect, Victor Riesel these reports disclosed that there is a national crime syndicate run by a 12-man commission directing a complex of businesses, local and dummy unions, narcotic networks and gambling operations employing a total of some 750,000 men.

As previously disclosed in this column the underworld handles some $40 billion a year. The 12-man commission of ranking millionaires, criminals, one of whom was actually involved in wartime treason, "decides policy, settles disputes and regulates territorial operations," according to Sen. McClellan.

Directly under the commission are some 2,000 executive criminals who daily conduct the activities of what some call the Mafia, others, the Cosa Nostra.

A DETAILED STUDY by this column of Sen. McClellan's latest report and of recent grand jury probes reveals that at least half the "national commission" and 300 of the "executives" have been in the labor rackets.

Thus a goodly part of what is being dubbed "the second government" is a direct threat to American labor and, in turn, to American business.

This intricate array of wealthy gangsters is reported from the inside to be wary of the coming assault by the government. But it is being cautious, not frightened.

Sensing the attack will be launched against its gambling and narcotics operations, the national crime organization is looking towards possibilities of exploiting urban renewal, labor's pension and welfare funds and hundreds of millions dollars in lightning-like expansion of suburbs everywhere.

This, they believe they can do by moving into the construction field, by infiltrating some unions, especially in areas where contractors must meet deadlines.

THERE IS no doubt of the underworld's manpower and specialists in the labor field. Look, for example, at the Carlo Gambino combine, one of five which control the New York City area and adjacent Long Island.

In the Cosa Nostra Gambino "Family" there are 69 active topside men. Of these, including "The Boss," "The Underboss" and the high lieutenants, 12 are deep in the labor rackets. Some, like Gambino himself, have contacts right across the state.

All of them have records of extortion and strong arm tactics.

The biggest grouping in New York is the unit of Vito Genovese, whom McClellan has accused of once working with a war-time enemy of the U.S. There are 115 active members in the "Family" of the imprisoned Genovese. At least 18 are in the "No. 4" category — labor racketeering.

IN ANOTHER combine, that of Tommy (Three Finger Brown) Lucchese, at least 12, including "The Boss," out of 45 active leaders, are in the labor rackets.

In Chicago there is a tight single syndicate affiliated with the national cartel. The mob there has about 100 activists, of which five are labor rackets account executives.

The Chicago group, according to testimony before the McClellan committee, is headed by a 19-member combine. One of them, this testimony states, is a Teamsters' official, Joey Glimco.

Though this was revealed some time ago, Glimco has not yet been removed from his local office and is in fact actively organizing there. In this same group of 19 men is the probably successor to Genovese, as head of the national commission. He is Salvatore Momo, alias, Sam "Mooney" Giancana.

Johnson Feeling The Heat

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

President Johnson is feeling the heat. The two big puzzles the nation faces, oceans apart and unrelated, burst on him after a long period of comparatively cool tranquility.

Events in Viet Nam and Selma, Ala., at this moment beyond prediction by Johnson or anyone else, may deeply affect his presidency and his future.

In Viet Nam he has taken strong action against the North Vietnamese to try to smash their will to war. They show no signs of buckling. And if Johnson further intensifies the war, he can't tell what Russia and Red China will do.

Yet, if the Southeast Asian problem looks baffling, it is no more so than what is happening in Alabama where civil rights forces are demonstrating for Negroes' voting rights. Here he is reluctant to intervene directly.

He has taken some indirect steps, through aides and a call for reason, to cool off both sides, the civil rights people and the Alabama authorities. But pressure is piling up on him for far more direct action.

At Selma the heat was turned on him Sunday when 40 Negroes in a civil rights march were clubbed by State Police who had been instructed by Gov. George C. Wallace to prevent them from continuing their journey. They had wanted to march 50 miles from Selma to the Capitol at Montgomery to present him with a petition to let more Negroes vote.

Then three white ministers from the North, in Selma to help in the civil rights struggle, were beaten on the city streets. One was gravely injured. A second march, planned for Tuesday, was forbidden by a federal judge.

He planned a hearing on the whole business today. But Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. defied the court order and started another march. This was abandoned when state troopers stood in the way.

Wednesday night there was another demonstration in Selma. Police blocked this one.

All these events brought roars of protest from across much of the nation by many political leaders, church groups, union officials, governors, mayors, legislators, students, and civil rights workers.

Republicans in Congress called for presidential action. In Los Angeles 85 civil rights workers were arrested in front of the federal building as they protested the treatment of Negroes in Selma.

It seems unlikely this can go on indefinitely without violent explosions. But Johnson, contrary to his previous tactics on major problems before the nation, has been extraordinarily quiet on Viet Nam and Selma.

Who Worries About Jobs?

President Johnson is continuing to show proper concern about getting more of his fellow countrymen employed.

In asking Congress to step up its action on his manpower proposals, he released a Labor Department report showing it will take an average of 4 1/2 per cent rise in national output each year for the next six years to cut unemployment from today's 5 per cent to 3 per cent, which would be a more acceptable level of joblessness.

But why should it be only the chief executive of the United States worrying about unemployment? Mr. Johnson cannot solve the problem. All he can do is try to stimulate the economy and that is no guarantee of more jobs. The economy is in a state of acute stimulation now, with unemployment remaining high.

In the same condition of stimulation — the 4 1/2 per cent of national output rise per year specified by the Department of Labor — unemployment might actually increase as both actual and potential jobs are automated out of existence by employers stimulating the economy via reduced operating costs and higher profits.

ALL THE THINGS the Johnson administration might be able to do would have no more effect in that event than pouring gasoline into a tank with a hole in it big enough to let the gasoline run out as fast as it was being poured in.

With luck, the tank might be kept from getting emptier, but under no circumstances could it ever be filled.

It has been pointed out repeatedly that the difference between mechanization and automation in respect to job-making is that mechanization required large-scale use of manpower to make the new equipment.

When farming, for example, was mechanized, new jobs were created in the manufacture of farm machinery — more than enough to offset the loss of jobs in farm production.

But when farm machinery manufacturing is automated, there is no offsetting effect. There is a net loss of jobs. Automation equipment is not heavy production. It is not mass-produced. And its use requires little or no manpower; that is why it is in great demand. It eliminates manpower, whereas mechanization made manpower more effectual on the job.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON must worry about unemployment because he is a politician and unemployed citizens are not food for politicians who want to stay in office. But the means of relieving unemployment are not political.

They are within the structure of a society going through a momentous transition from an era of mechanization into an era of automation. They are a problem for the enterprise system, itself.

Wraps Up The Whole Thing

You have to feel sorry for the U.S. Air Force in its attempts to get rid of the Unidentified Flying Objects mystery.

Its latest report shows 8,908 reports investigated from 1947 through the end of 1964, without a single thing to go on. The Air Force has no photographs, no tangible evidence, no proof that any unidentified flying objects ever existed.

All it has and all it will continue to have is an endless stream of reports by U.S. citizens that they have seen objects in the sky that they couldn't identify.

This puts the Air Force and its citizens even up in the running score of unidentified flying objects. Both have seen the same number of objects, with identical results.

The Air Force, using a scientific approach, could make systematic surmises. If a weather balloon was in the vicinity, a weather balloon might have been seen. A meteor might have been seen etc.

The Air Force has no evidence that what was seen was a flying object from another point in the Universe, however. This wraps up the whole mystery. It disposes of the unidentified flying objects until another unidentified flying object is spotted and reported, whereupon the mystery becomes unwrapped again. It's enough to drive a bureaucratic into being a UFO himself.

Why Not North Vietnamese Beetles?

Agriculture scientists, hardy harbingers of forthcoming growth, report there will be fewer Japanese beetles this summer. This is good news.

It means, though, there will be more greenery, which is a modified blessing. At least, it will modify itself as summer wears on and the green grass keeps growing all around, all around, all around, while shrubbery cries out for pruning to keep it from choking out other shrubbery.

Aside from these considerations, the news that dry weather last summer raised hob with Japanese beetles opens still another door of doubt.

Why are we still calling them Japanese beetles when the Japanese are our friends and allies, we hope? Why shouldn't they be called Vietnamese beetles?

It has been years since anyone mentioned Spanish influenza. There's even a new name for German measles; Germans are our friends and allies, too, we hope. Scarlet fever is all right, because anything tinged with red is bad.

But Japanese beetles, really, isn't it time to switch names and be thankful that this summer there will be fewer Vietnamese beetles? Make that North Vietnamese beetles. South Vietnamese beetles are good. Only an expert can tell the difference, unfortunately.

To The Dogs

By Truman Twill

German shepherds have been betrayed by humankind. Of all dogs that might be used to terrify crowds, they are the most easily trained, most responsive to command, most physically adaptable.

They are big enough but not too big.

They look formidable. Every time this writer sees one with its teeth bared, he is reminded of his own German shepherd's appearance in the kitchen when the dog wants breakfast.

German shepherds trained to look ferocious and act vicious on command are nothing to fool with after their trainers have finished their work. They aren't house pets.

The job couldn't have been done with any other breed. Irish setters would have looked the grisly routine into a romp. Dalmatians would have shied away from infighting.

Boxers would have doped off with their feet in the air. The little dogs wouldn't have impressed anyone. None of the bigger dogs would have been agile enough. Danes and St. Bernards, mastiffs, wolf hounds and Rottweilers would have been too clumsy.

Most other dogs would have been too thick in the head, too stubborn, too irresponsible, or too scarce.

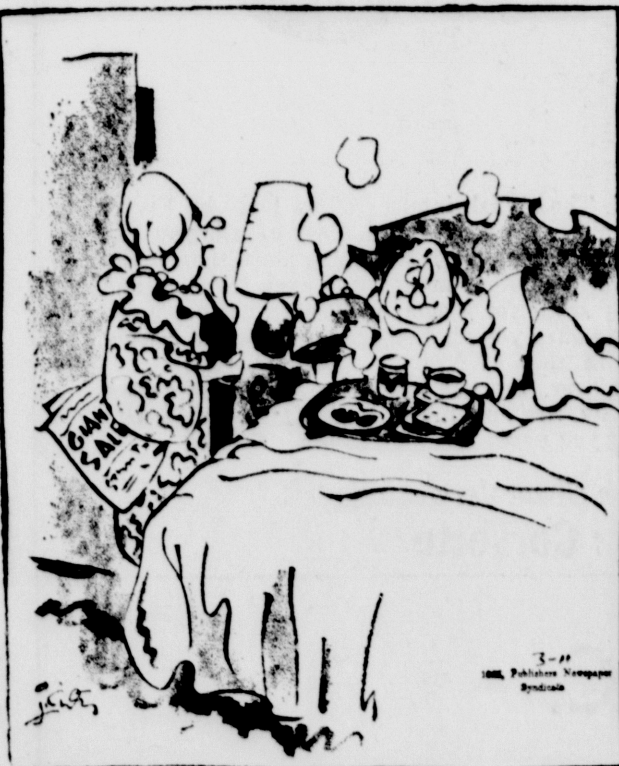

So in the course of man's inhumanity to man, the German shepherd was picked for man's dirty work.

When this experiment in affluent living for the affluent collapses and the Republic goes to the dogs, the dogs will have a score to settle with people who gave them a bad name.

These people trained them to look ferocious and be vicious on command.

These people turned dogs against other people in the race struggle and made dogs seem to be the accomplices of brutalitarians.

When this country finally goes to the dogs, if that's what it's hell-bent on doing, the dogs will be entitled to a free bite apiece, except German shepherds. They will be entitled to three, with hamburger chasers to get rid of the after-taste. Yannh!

It is now more than a month since the air strikes were first undertaken and U.S. officials say that if and when any new decisions are made for expanded U.S. operations against the North they will very likely be made known not by advance announcement but as result of action in the field.

Marine Helicopter Crashes, 4 Injured

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Marine Corps helicopter crashed and burned today 30 miles south of Da Nang, injuring four crewmen aboard.

Details were lacking, but it was presumed Viet Cong gunfire downed the craft. The chopper, from a company which had been in Viet Nam several weeks, was believed on a supply mission to Vietnamese troops operating against the Communists in a valley south of Da Nang.

A Marine officer said three of the injured men were taken to the field hospital at Nha Trang and the fourth was brought here for treatment. The latter's injuries were said to be less serious.

Viet Cong guerrillas Wednesday night lobbed a grenade or mortar shell into a Vietnamese position about eight miles northwest of the strategic Da Nang Air Base. One Vietnamese soldier was killed and two were wounded.

The action took place about three miles from the northwest outer perimeter of the defense zone set up by U.S. Marines who landed this week to protect the air base.

In Saigon, the South Vietnamese Interior Ministry released the names of 385 persons it said had signed a recent resolution sponsored by a so-called "Peace Movement Committee."

The names were published following a cabinet decision to curb the activities of such committees, which it termed pro-Communist movements to misguide and deceive the public.

The government said it would deport a number of persons involved to North Viet Nam.

A ranking U.S. military spokesman said he feels the military situation throughout South Viet Nam has improved considerably in the past few weeks, particularly in mountainous Binh Dinh Province.

The Mekong Delta south of Saigon has been quiet for weeks after intense Viet Cong activity earlier in the winter.

West Virginia Senate Kills Bar Exam Bill

CHARLESTON — An ordeal faced by thousands of law school graduates each year will continue to be spared attorneys graduating from the West Virginia University law school who intend to practice in the state.

The Senate Thursday killed a bill that would have required all law graduates to pass a bar examination before being licensed to practice in West Virginia.

As the law now stands, WVU law school graduates can practice in the state without taking the test.

In preparing scalloped oysters, some cooks like to use a mixture of bread and cracker crumbs although most recipes call for one of the other!

Woman Uninjured In Lisbon Area Crash

A Lisbon area woman escaped injury when her car went off Route 154 about two miles east of Lisbon yesterday morning and struck guardrails, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Mildred E. Scroggs, 63, of Lisbon R. D. 3 was headed east when the 1964 coach veered off the roadway on a curve, causing moderate damage to the auto.

Ailing GOP Senator To Return

Democrat Reign In Ohio Senate Apparently Ends

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The short-lived Democratic reign in the Ohio Senate apparently is at its end, but one pending gubernatorial appointment could trigger last-minute fireworks today.

Democrats have controlled the evenly divided upper chamber for several weeks in the absence of ailing Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, R - Hamilton. Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, said he has been told Hoffman will return Monday.

In Hoffman's absence, Democrats used a 16-15 advantage to block five appointments by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes. They also pushed through a resolution censuring the governor's appointment policies.

Democrats now indicate they feel their point has been made. They joined Republicans Wednesday to confirm five appointments by the governor—four involving republicans.

Action was withheld on the appointment of Hugo Sabato, Cincinnati insurance man, to the Ohio Civil Rights Commission. Democratic leader Frank W. King of Toledo said he wanted to know more about Sabato's qualifications.

Confirmed were the appointments of:

Jay C. Flowers, Columbus, to the Utilities Commission.

Lowell Fess, Yellow Springs, to the State Personnel Board of Review.

C. Byron Johnson, Ashtabula, to the Waterways Safety Council.

Daniel E. Washam, Jackson, and J. Arch Anderson, Toledo, to the Ohio Higher Education Assistance Commission.

Johnson is the only Democrat among the five.

The Senate passed two bills Wednesday although both stirred use.

non-partisan debate and one was approved by a single vote.

Squeaking through was a measure placing Ohio in an interstate compact for exchange of information on traffic law violators. The vote was 18-12 with 17 votes needed for passage.

Sens. Ed Garrigan, R-Summit, and Edmund A. Sargus, D-Belmont, sponsored the bill which would join Ohio and 13 other states along with the District of Columbia.

The Senate also passed a measure requiring suspension or revocation of driver's licenses of minors caught drinking alcoholic beverages in motor vehicles. Suspensions could run from 10 days to three years.

Three bills were passed by the House and sent to the Senate.

They would permit savings and loan associations, like banks, to make loans to cover student expenses; change the name of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster to the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, and permit school boards to sell property to counties and townships.

Among a score of new bills offered in the House was a measure by Rep. Arthur C. Katterheine, R-Auglaize, banning conflict of interests among elected state officials.

Other new House bills would require state-supported universities and colleges to accept all graduates of state - chartered high schools but allow their assignment to branch campuses for the first two years, appropriate $5 million for a new dormitory for the Fairfield School for Boys at Lancaster, and allow counties to add a $5 annual motor vehicle license tax for local use.

missioned an officer in 1943. He served in the Asiatic - Pacific, European - African and Middle Eastern Theaters and was discharged in 1945.

He joined Clifton Post 421 in Parkview, Cleveland, in 1947 and was elected commander in 1953, becoming commander of 13th District, Cuyahoga County, in 1960. He is a member of the

90 At Annual Dinner

J. J. Gilkes Elected Head Of District OSU Alumni

John J. Gilkes was elected president of the Ohio State Alumni Association of Southern Columbiana County at a buffet dinner Wednesday night at the Country Club, marking the 35th yearly dinner of the group.
About 90 attended.

Gilkes succeeds Dr. C. Marvin Kinsey.

Other officers elected were David C. Zimmer, vice president, and Mrs. Arthur J. Cloran, secretary - treasurer.

Named to three - year terms on the Board of Directors were Miss Edna Clouse, William
Kozel Jr. and Dr. William G.
Bartolovich.

The nominating committee included James Roslund, chairman, Miss Gladys DeBolt, Eugene W. Hall and Phil Irwin.
Glenn C. (Tiger) Ellison,
freshman football coach at Ohio State and former head coach at Middletown High School and
"Ohio Coach of the Year" in 1961, was principal speaker.

He discussed the development of Buckeye football teams and the help given the coaching staff by alumni groups. Ellison discussed the development of Jerry Lucas as a basketball star and the motivation of outstanding athletes and related humorous stories about sports figures.

The coach also stressed the continuing attempts to build bigger and better "bridges" in all departments at the university.

Dick Walters, field secretary of the OSU Fund, was a guest.
He pointed out OSU has the second largest number of contributors of any university and last year more than $2 1/4 million was raised. The money is used for scientific purposes, loans to students and purchasing of equipment not furnished by the university.

Group singing was led by Dr.
Jay Kinsey with Miss Mary Cartwright as accompanist. The invocation was given by the Rev. Frederic Gibbs, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church.

Milk glass bowls of red carnations and white snapdragons and red and silver candles in milk glass holders provided the decorations with scarlet and gray ribbon strips centering the tables. Mrs. F. J. Cloran and Mrs. Arthur J. Cloran were the co-chairmen.

Wetzel's Bill Would Finance Treatment For Alcoholics

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS — Liquor permit holders would help finance treatment of alcoholism under a bill co-sponsored Wednesday afternoon by Rep. Clarence L.
Wetzel, R-Columbiana.

The bill would divert 1 percent of the state's liquor permit fee revenue to operate the Division of Alcoholism in the Ohio Department of Health.

It was Wetzel's bill four years ago which created the Alcoholism Division. But for the last three years it has been inoper-ative because no funds have been available.

Permit revenue now is distributed by the state to local government funds in proportion to the number of permits in each city, village and township.

Revenue exceeded $9.8 million last year and state officials estimate the division would receive up to $100,000 a year under this bill.

In other action Wednesday,
Sen. Edmund A. Sargus, D-Belmont, co-sponsored a bill to remove a restriction from the workmen's compensation law.

It would eliminate a requirement that injured workers be off their jobs at least seven days before becoming eligible for permanent or partial disability benefits.

That requirement, written into the law two years ago, is being abused by some employers who assign injured workers to other jobs to avoid layoffs and compensation claims, the sponsors said.

The bill also would broaden the definition of "injury" which the administrator of the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation must follow in determining disability.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: For cleaning mirrors, I use two or three tablespoons of coal oil (kerosene) in about a pint of warm water. I then dry the mirror with paper towels or a clean rag. A.J.

You are as right as rain. I would like to caution all you homemakers on something. . . . Don't ever wipe a mirror with your dust cloth. It is full of oils or waxes, dust and soil. This will eventually cause streaks on your mirror. Know that? Use toilet tissue, facial tissues or a clean cloth.

Also, I suggest you don't use an old bath towel. They are loaded with body oils down in the tiny fibers.

And while you're cleaning your mirror, have you looked at the glass on your favorite pictures? Moisten your fingertip and rub it across the glass hard. You'll see. Time to clean those, too, I guess.

What price housekeeping! But, oh, isn't it wonderful to see it spanking clean??? HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Some time ago, you printed a hint on keeping dust ruffles on beds by using an old sheet the size of the mattress and sewing the ruffle to it.

I have done this before — but now have a new idea which others might like to try. . . . I use upholsterer's snaps that come on tape. I sew one side of the tape to the undersheet and the other part to the ruffle.

Now I don't have to take the sheet off every time the ruffle is washed.

Just unsnap, launder and snap back on again. MRS. R.W.L.

DEAR HELOISE: Being in too big a rush the other day, I spilled bleach on my favorite black dress.

Can you please tell me how to restore my dress to its original color? MAMIE

If bleach spills on a black dress, try spotting it with black shoe dye. On some types of material, crayons are also useful when gently applied, then ironed with a warm iron to set the color.

Always be sure to spot test a hidden spot first and to follow instructions and cautions on the container. HELOISE.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Will you please tell me where in the Heloise you got the word "fantabulous"? It ain't in any dictionary (though the word "ain't" . . . is!)

"TREACHURE."

When I was working in Hawaii, there was a clever and witty photographer on that paper. I used the words "fantastic" and "fabulous" all the time . . . both are overworked words.

This photographer said, "Use a word I coined — 'fantabulous.' He laughed so hard, and I thought it was so good that I started using it. And to date, you are the only one who ever questioned it!"

That's the true story. NO WEBSTER.

DEAR HELOISE: In my time, I have baked a lot of pies and have always been tempted to grease the pans.

So, today I tried, it, and the bottom of the crust turned out to be flaky and a beautiful brown color.

MRS. OTIS CASTEL.

DEAR HELOISE: If you have trouble with the bottom button on a dress skirt tearing the material, put a button on the wrong side of the material, then put the top button on the right side of the material.

Sew through both buttons at the same time, and you will have no more torn material . . . or loose buttons. SADA SUMMERS.

Runaway Rig's Operator Jumps

A Washington (Pa.) trucker was in "fairly good" condition with injuries received Wednesday night when he apparently jumped from his pipe-loaded rig after crashing into some guardrails to slow the runaway down after the brakes failed on the Route 30 hill near Chester.

Norman Young, 32, driver for Mississippi East, Inc., of Washington, received lacerations and abrasions of the forehead and right cheek and abrasions of the right arm in the mishap about 11:30 p. m. near Taylor's Bend. He is a patient in City Hospital.

Young told Hancock County deputies the brakes failed as he started to slow for the sharp curve. He said he realized the only way to stop the vehicle was to ditch it.

The tractor-trailer knocked down some guardrails and finally stopped after hitting a utility pole. Although damaged, the pole was not broken nor were any wires knocked down, deputies said. The load did not spill, they added.

Bettis Issues Month Report

LISBON — Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis has issued a report of the activities of his office and staff for February.

The prosecutor and James D. Primm Jr., Lisbon, trial assistant, handled 19 felony matters and disposed of five cases. On Feb. 24, two cases were argued before the 7th District Court of Appeals.

Assistants Howard M. Cole of Lisbon, Charles Lang of East Liverpool and Duane Yeagley of Salem tried 46 cases in the Juvenile Court, 13 in county courts and 10 tax cases for a total of 69. Four appropriation cases were also handled and the assistants gave six opinions.

The prosecutor's office held 193 interviews with complainants, seven of which were referred to private counsel.

Nineteen support cases were processed during the month under the Reciprocal Support of Dependents Act.

Prosecutor Bettis said the reorganization plan he instituted on taking office seems to be working well and that there is always someone available in the office to meet public needs, except when trial work requires their presence in the Common Pleas Court, Juvenile Court, Probate Court or the three County Courts.

The board also authorized advertising for bids for two 66-passenger school buses to be opened at the next meeting April 14 at the Crestview High School.

List Of Unemployed College Cage Mentors Increases

New Mexico, Purdue Must Fill Vacancy

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
There'll be a lot of new faces among the coaching fraternity in college basketball next season. No fewer than 10 resignations have been announced the last several weeks.

Ray Eddy, coach at Purdue University for 15 years, and Presley Askew, coach at New Mexico State for 12 years, were the latest to join the list. They announced their resignations Wednesday.

Other coaches who will not be back next season are Branch McCracken of Indiana University, Ed Jucker of the University of Cincinnati, Eddie Melvin of Toledo, Jim Williams of American University, Babe McCarthy of Mississippi State, Harbin Lawson of Georgia, Jim Nau of Idaho State and Chuck Orsborn of Bradley. Orsborn moves up to the post of director of athletics.

They join Taps Gallagher of Niagara and Joe Lapchick of St. John's University of New York, who will retire.

That means that Lapchick's career may end tonight when his St. John's Redmen encounter Bob Cousy's Boston College Eagles in the feature of a first-round doubleheader that opens the National Invitation Tournament in New York. Texas Western and Manhattan meet in the first game of the twinbill.

With the big boys idle awaiting the opening of the NIT and Friday's NCAA competition at four regional sites, the 27th straight year this season for the Evansville Aces, the nation's No. 1 small-college team, highlighted Wednesday's play.

With Little All-Americans Larry Humes, 30 points, and Jerry Sloan, 27, combining for 57 points, Evansville whipped Philadelphia Textile 92-76 in the quarter-finals of the NCAA small-college championship tournament at Evansville, Ind.

It was the 33rd in a row for the Aces who have won 53 of 56 games over a two-year span.

St. Michael's of Vermont upset Akron 101-87 in another quarter-final and goes against Evansville tonight in the semifinals. North Dakota and Southern Illinois meet in the other semi. The Sioux advanced by defeating Seattle Pacific 97-83 for their 19th straight and SIU trimmed Washington of St. Louis 76-67.

No successors to Eddy and Askew have been announced. Jim Maloney replaces Gallagher, Ken Rosemond succeeds Lawson, Joe Dan Gold replaces McCarthy, Tay Baker succeeds Jucker, Bob Nichols succeeds Melvin and Lou Carnesecca steps into Lapchick's shoes.

Warm Weather Predicted For Doral Golf Play

MIAMI (AP) — The touring golf pros have been playing in an ice box this year, but the weather man predicted they will have warm sun during Miami's Doral Invitational which started today.

PGA champion Bobby Nichols was one of the many wanting relief after the coldest tour in five years.

"I played in the pro-am at Pensacola with four sweaters, a windbreaker jacket and pants, and I was still cold," Nichols said. "I lost all the feeling in my hands. It was miserable."

Palm Springs and Tucson were the only sites where heavy clothing was not required for at least a round or two, said Jerry Steelsmith.

In Miami, a temperature of 78 was forecast for the first round and maybe an 80 for the second day.

Billy Casper, winner of the Doral two of its three years, was a strong favorite to do it again.

Russell Sparks Celtics To Easy 124-106 Victory

By The Associated Press
The acting coach of the Boston Celtics has a sterling report for regular boss Red Auerbach today about big Bill Russell.

Auerbach was off on a scouting trip Wednesday while Russell and the Celtics romped over Detroit 124-106 and virtually ended any playoff hopes for the Pistons.

The acting coach's statistics on Russell read 25 points, 18 rebounds, five assists and seven blocked shots. An impressive line and one the acting coach will be most pleased to present to Auerbach. That's because the acting coach was Russell.

In Wednesday's other NBA action, New York ripped Philadelphia 134-123 and St. Louis thumped Cincinnati 137-113.

COACH DICK PARSONS checks the weight of his star wrestler Farnum Shasteen before they leave for the state tournament which begins Friday in Columbus. Shasteen captured the District title at Canton last week and will compete in the 112-pound division.

Unbeaten Boardman Opens District Bid

53 Remain In Class AA Running

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The race for Ohio's high school regional basketball berths is beginning to tighten, and some top-talent teams must get out of the way by the weekend.

In early district skirmishing this week, seven Class AA teams were ousted along with nine in Class A. That cut the big-school starting field of 412 to 53, and the smaller school survivors to 51 of the 476 which went into sectional play.

Cleveland East, only quintet still in the race from last year's four Class AA state tourney cast, advanced Wednesday night with a 17-3 record by turning back Willoughby South in a 63-61 squeaker. Cleveland St. Ignatius, sixth-ranked in the final Associated Press poll, made it 21-1 by beating Parma 67-60.

A game worthy of state championship billing pops up Friday night at Canton in Class A where West Salem Northwestern, the 1958 champion, runs headlong into McDonald. Northwestern ran its record to 20-1 with a 51-26 rout of Rocky River Lutheran West, while McDonald reached 22-0 with a 76-70 verdict over Petersburg Springfield Local. The winner goes to the Kent regional.

A regional Class A berth also hangs on the outcome of a Saturday tilt between two Columbus hot-shots. Columbus East, 1951 and 1963 state king, puts its 14-5 mark against ninth-ranked Columbus South, with an 18-1 mark.

A few big ones are on tap tonight.

Youngstown Boardman, fifth-ranked with a 21-0 record, opposes Youngstown North (16-4) at Youngstown in Class AA; Newark's three-time champions, rated seventh with 19-1, meet Columbus Eastmoor (13-6) in the state capital, and Cleveland East Tech, 1958-59 state victors, plays Solon at Bedford. Tech is 14-6 Solon 14-7.

Altoona Is Next Foe For Midland

Midland's next foe in the Western Regional Class A game Saturday night will be a strong Altoona team.

Altoona captured the District 6 championship Wednesday night by romping to an 87-60 victory over Somerset.

Dick Johnston, smallest player on the starting five for Altoona at 5-8, poured in 33 points to lead the attack and now has scored 118 points in four playoff tilts. Johnston is only a junior.

Puerto Rico Open Shows 3 Favorites

DORADO, P.R. (AP) — The Puerto Rico Open, last stop on the Caribbean tour, opens today with Art Wall Jr., Wes Ellis Jr. and Al Besselink favored to battle it out for the championship as well as for the Seagram trophy.

Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., is leading in the race for the trophy with a total of 95½ points as a result of victories in the Panama Open and the Maracaibo Open. Ellis, of West Caldwell, N.J., is second with 93½ and Besselink, of Grossinger, N.Y., third at 90½. The winner of a tourney gets 30 points, the runner-up 24 and third place 23.

Wall is the defending Caribbean tour champion having won the trophy last year with a margin of 25 points. He is the only player in the eight-year history of the Caribbean circuit to win a championship at every stop.

Football Doesn't Breed Cheating, Official Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-level Pentagon official says while a proportionately high number of varsity football players were involved in the recent Air Force Academy cheating scandal, "it does not necessarily follow, however, that football breeds cheating."

Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance gave that view in a Feb. 18 letter to Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., who made it available to The Associated Press today.

Vance disagreed with Stratton's statement that athletic professionalism is rampant in the military academies and had a role in the cheating scandal at Colorado Springs, in which 105 cadets were forced to resign.

Stratton also made public official Air Force answers to a series of questions he asked more than a month ago about the scandal.

With a covering letter from Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert dated Feb. 19, the Air Force answers disclosed that cheating "on a small scale" was going on at the Air Force Academy for "at least a year prior to its discovery."

The document did not explain this reference or give details of the earlier cheating. It added: "The activities of the group expanded rapidly in the fall of 1964. In early December a series of examinations were stolen by two individuals who gained entry into the academic building where examinations were stored."

It said 105 cadets admitted under questions they were un-

Kasko Named Captain Of Houston Club

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Astros have observed the appointment of their first captain while the San Francisco Giants are celebrating the return of their first baseman.

Manager Luman Harris said Wednesday that veteran infielder Eddie Kasko would be Houston's first field captain since its entry into the National League in 1962.

"I'm going to tell the team that when Eddie says something, it is the same as me saying it," Harris said. "I need somebody on the field to take charge. This guy is a real leader, and I think the team will benefit by his being the captain."

Kasko, 32, played seven seasons with St. Louis and Cincinnati before moving to Houston early last year. He batted .243 and drove in 22 runs in 133 games for the ninth-place Astros.

Over in the San Francisco camp, the Giants were talking about the return of Orlando Cepeda to fullscale workouts.

The slugging first baseman had not been working too hard the first 10 days of spring training while testing his right knee. Damaged cartilage was removed from the knee last Dec. 7.

"I feel good, real good," Cepeda said after clouting a 400-foot smash out of the park in his first full turn in the batting cage. He also worked out at first base.

"He's almost ready now, but I still don't want to rush him," Manager Herman Franks said. Cepeda, entering his eighth major league season, batted .304 last year with 31 homers and 97 runs batted in.

Bill Would Restore Dove Hunting

By KEN MCCREARY
For The Associated Press
Most sportsmen around "Buckeye Country" aren't yet aware of it, but a measure under study by the Ohio General Assembly could considerably alter the future of Ohio's hunters.

The proposal concerns a bird variously known as "rain-crow," "wild dove," "gray dart," "turtle dove," and by its correct name, mourning dove.

THE BILL, introduced last week by Rep. Tom Pottenger, R-Hamilton, would return the mourning dove to the "game bird" list after 52 years of classification as a "song bird."

This week the dove bill went into committee for consideration and public hearings. During the next several weeks the proposal could be the subject of prolonged discussion and perhaps some heated debate.

Support for legalizing dove hunting comes primarily from sportsmen and conservation organizations. Only today, the League of Ohio Sportsmen (which represents 203 clubs, with 50,000 members) began distributing a 12-page booklet called "Ohio's Wasted Game Bird," which strongly advocates passage of the bill.

There also is considerable opposition to making the dove a game bird. Those against such hunting include garden-type clubs, women's organizations, those who enjoy watching and studying birds, some legislators and some utility interests. A great deal of the opposition is attributable to what has been termed "sociological friction."

THE BILL would not make doves open, non-regulated game. Rep. Pottenger said when the proposal was introduced: "In 1959 the legislature made quail a game bird and provided that they can only be hunted on state-owned or controlled lands. Individuals signed a formal lease agreement with the state. The Wildlife Council and the chief of the division regulate the season. House Bill 383 places doves in exactly the same position."

The proponents of dove hunting note that the bird, being migratory, winters in the south, and is subject to strict hunting regulations set by the federal government.

They say Ohio is missing out on a high quality sport for its growing number of hunters, since 20-30 million doves are harvested each year in the 31 states which permit dove hunting. Proponents say this hunting pressure has had little or no effect in decreasing the population of the prolific bird.

It is estimated there are 2.5 million doves distributed across the state. And, the wildlife experts contend that with three to five broods a year, the "gray dart" would continue to prosper, even if hunted.

THE OPPONENTS of a dove hunting season are just as adamant. They ask—is it morally right to shoot such a peaceful, trusting bird as the dove? Even those who favor the measure are slow to object to the right of any Ohioan to be against hunting of any animal on moral grounds, even though the produce - hunting forces contend that the decision should be a personal one.

Many other persons who are against dove-hunting say the dove population might be cut down thus depriving Buckeye State residents of the purely aesthetic benefits gained by simply having them around.

In addition, some utility interests are known to oppose the "dove-bill" for purely business reasons, contending that hunters could cost them thousands of dollars by damaging cables and overhead wires.

One woman representative, asked her opinion of the measure, replied curtly: "Ridiculous!" A leading conservationist questioned on what he thought of opposition to the proposal used that same word.

Olympic Swimming Star Is Grand Award Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Schollander, 18-year-old winner of four Olympic gold medals in swimming, was selected Thursday night for the first annual "Grand Award of Sports."

The presentation of a 15-inch bronze and gold figure to the lad from Lake Oswego, Ore., was made by Col. John Glenn, the former astronaut, in a national television show by ABC.

Schollander, who was selected in January as the "Male Athlete of the Year" for 1964, in The Associated Press' 34th annual poll, was chosen in the final Grand Award voting over Jimmy Brown, of the Cleveland Browns, who had 66 points; Olympic running champion Peter Snell of New Zealand, 20; Bill Bradley, Princeton's All-America basketball, 14, and

Notre Dame quarterback John Huarte, 7.

A computer was supposed to digest the judges' selections and write out the name of the winner of the over-all "Grand Award of Sports." It slowly came up with the points of the runners-up but Schollander's winning total never was announced on the program.

Later ABC said Schollander received 104 points.

The selections were based on 1964 performances. Winners in 20 categories of sports were presented with miniature replicas of the major award.

Syracuse does a good job in recruiting football players. One of the Orange sophomores comes from Panama. He is Val Reid. Another, Scott Loll, lives in Alaska.

Phils' Rich Allen Remains Holdout

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Richie Allen, who won National League Rookie of the Year honors for the Philadelphia Phillies last season, says he thinks he is "being fair" in his salary request for the 1965 season and will not report to spring training without a contract.

"I'm asking for less than $25,000 a year and I think I'm worth it," he said in an interview Wednesday night. "I think I'm being fair about it, and I definitely won't go to Florida without a contract."

Allen denied reports that Philadelphia's General Manager John Quinn has increased the club's salary offer, reportedly about $17,000.

"I talked with him on the phone again today, and he hasn't made any new offers at all," Allen said. "He said he wouldn't even recommend any changes to Mr. Carpenter (Phillies' President Robert M. Carpenter)."

Last season Allen led the National League in total bases as he hit 29 home runs, drove in 91 runs, and led the Phillies in hitting with a .318 average.

"When I was in the minors they told me to wait until I got to the big leagues before I could expect to make any money," Allen has said. "Well, I made it, I had a good year and I want to get what I think I'm worth. They said I should wait some more."

Quinn says he thinks Allen is "asking too much after one year."

"I have tried to explain to Allen that consistency and experience are needed to get the kind of salary he's asking for," Quinn said. "We don't think that happens after one year."

You're The Skipper

Accepting A Tow Can Be Expensive

By JOHN BOHANNAN

Not many owners of pleasure boats understand the salvage law. If they did, they wouldn't be so willing to accept a tow when offered, especially where the boat is in any danger.

One of the most frequent salvage situations occurs when a boat is in danger of being blown against a lee shore.

LET'S ASSUME that your engine has failed. Directly to leeward of you, the breakers are piling up against a rocky coast. You are about to break out the anchor.

Just at this moment, a small commercial fishing boat happens along and the skipper offers to tow you a line. It's a kind, neighborly thing to do, and you accept his offer rather than go to the trouble of anchoring.

You may not realize it, but in effect you have just given him a possible monetary interest in your craft. If he wishes, he can file suit against you in Admiralty Court, claiming salvage because he has saved your boat from being smashed to pieces on the rocks of the lee shore.

True, he would have a stronger case if you had actually anchored and the anchor were dragging, and if the towing occurred under storm conditions involving risk to himself and his boat.

of the law and the unfortunate possibilities.

For example, if the case does get into Admiralty Court, the judge can hand down a decision based on the facts — the peril to the rescued boat, the amount of risk involved in the salvage operation, and how successful it was. A salvage judgment can put a lien on your boat, and if necessary the boat will be sold to satisfy the lien.

What's left would be handed over to you.

FORTUNATELY, most pleasure boat owners are willing and anxious to help each other in times of emergency, with no thought of remuneration.

It's where help is offered by commercial craft that the pleasure boat owner should be especially cautious.

If you take a tow from a Coast Guard vessel you have no need to worry. Such assistance is within the line of duty, and this takes the Coast Guard crewmen out of the classification of being "volunteers," which is a necessary part of a salvage claim.

The best answer to all of these problems is to become so proficient in the handling of your boat that you seldom, if ever, require assistance.

Seamanship means safety. It comes with practice, attention to detail, and a constant effort to become better acquainted with wind, sea and weather; the rudiments of good piloting; keeping your boat and all its equipment in top condition, and knowing what she'll do under all conditions.

Questions And Answers

Q. — Can a salvage claim be made for saving the life of a person who has fallen overboard?

A. — No. Salvage does not apply to human beings. All boatmen are required to save human lives wherever possible.

Q. — On a club cruise recently, one of our members had some trouble when we were docked. The galley stove flared up and set some woodwork on fire. He used up all the contents of his fire extinguishers and the owner of another boat brought his carbon dioxide extinguisher over and put out the blaze. Would he have had a right to salvage?

A. — Possibly, but no yachting gentleman would take advantage of such a situation.

People In News
LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson planned a business-as-usual day on his 89th birthday today.
Aides said he would attend a cabinet meeting in the morning have an audience with Pope Paul VI.

His office announced Wednesday the British leader would go to Rome April 27-29, but that if the day and if the face is familiar has not been decided if he would there's a reason: Lelio Lagorio is the man who was elected changed. That and the adjacent the Communists used for was elected again Wednesday night.

When the Communists were backing Lagorio, a Socialist, last month, they spoke of him as "the people's choice" and a "true Democratic representative."

Wednesday night, the Communists made such a din he had to forego his speech as they screamed at him words like "Judas," "traitor," "buffoon" and "fascist."

Continuance Granted Man In Weapon Case
To allow the defendant more time to attempt to obtain counsel, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until Monday in the case of George Clutter, 38, of 883 Fairview St., arrested early Tuesday in the Green Mill Restaurant on Dresden Ave. on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Clutter's case originally had been postponed from Tuesday until today to allow him to obtain an attorney. He told the court today he talked with a lawyer yesterday, but did not know if the man intended to represent him.

Patrolmen Jack Walsh and J. W. Buckley cited Clutter at 2:40 a. m. Tuesday, alleging he was carrying an unloaded .22-caliber revolver.

Judge Due New Trial On Drunken Driving
LONDON, Ohio (AP)—The 2nd District Court of Appeals has reversed the conviction of Madison County Probate Judge

Charles Crabbe on a drunken driving charge and ordered the case returned to Madison County Common Pleas Court for a new trial.
Judge Crabbe was convicted in the Philippines, Christmas 1964. The Appellate Court ruled that the trial court erred in assigning the trial to such an early date as to deprive the defendant a fair trial.

Lucy Has Her Problems

As a TV comedienne, Lucille Ball is an assured and highly paid success. (She reportedly will get $90,000 a week, the most ever paid for a half-hour show, for her "Lucy" comedies on CBS next season.)

As president of Desilu Studios, however, Miss Ball is a chin-up girl at the moment. Her effort to interest the networks in some programming outside her own show has apparently struck out to the tune of probably $1.5 million.

DESILU hopefully pitched up five proposed series to the three networks for next fall. Two were submitted to NBC, two to CBS and one to ABC. From the looks of the 1965-66 schedules, not one of the pilots made it.

While it would not be corporately prudent of Miss Ball to say what kind of loss this represents, in out-of-pocket costs, to say nothing of potential income, pilot (or sample) TV shows are widely known to cost these days at least $250,000 each.

Miss Ball, visiting New York this week, partly in her philanthropic role as top promoter of the annual Easter Seal drive, confessed she didn't know what it took to get the network to buy shows.

"LAST YEAR," the carrot-topped comedienne beamed, "we even brought them a couple of shows with sponsors all signed up, and still we didn't get them on."

In some TV trade quarters the story has been that the deciding factor in Miss Ball's agreement to work another season (her fourth for this series) was her studio's strikeout in peddling other programs to the chains.

Miss Ball just insisted, "I like to work." And she flatly denied gossip that she had asked CBS to buy one of her Desilu shows as a condition for returning.

Past weekend she went up to Connecticut to try to talk her long-time friend and teammate, Vivian Vance, into changing her mind about retiring from the show.

"I haven't seriously discussed it with her yet," Miss Ball claimed, "but I hope to have an answer soon."

THE TRIM, throaty entertainer said she didn't know what she'd do if Miss Vance resisted her entreaties. But if there's a replacement, it "won't be Ann Southern," who has done some guest shots on the "Lucy" show this season.

Miss Southern, rumored a possible replacement for Miss Vance, is in "My Mother, the Car," a forthcoming NBC series.

Miss Ball said the only other thought she had at the moment about the next season's shows, which she must begin shooting in mid-May, is that she'd like "to get out of the house more" and use more outdoor locations. "I'd like to go places," she explained.

She disclosed, incidentally, that this will be the third season she has filmed her shows in color — although CBS still apparently expects to go on running them in black and white.

"The color is beautiful," Miss Ball enthused.

Looking at her, you knew why.

NBC HAS SEEN Johnny Carson's point and will permit him to duck out on that first 15 minutes of the "Tonight" show if he wants to.

The program host recently started sitting out the 11:15-11:30 segment of his nightly show in his dressing room, saying he had a "15-minute virus."

To his NBC bosses, he beamed that many stations (including New York and San Francisco) bypassed the opening quarter hour in favor of local news and that his opening monologue therefore was not heard in some of the largest cities.

An NBC spokesman said Carson was right. Only 43 stations out of a total of about 190 carrying "Tonight" took a live feed on the first 15 minutes.

Beginning this week, Carson is permitted to show up or not, as he sees fit, before 11:30. If he doesn't, Ed McMahon and Skitch Henderson will patter through the quarter hour. In any event, the star will not do his monologue until 11:30.

Newspapers Set For $121 Million Expansion In '65

NEW YORK (AP) — Daily newspapers in the United States and Canada spent $108 million last year to modernize and expand plants and plan to spend another $121 million this year, the American Newspaper Publishers Association reports.

The association's annual survey of daily newspaper capital investments was released Wednesday. It showed that 739 U.S. dailies invested $98,558,928 in plant expansions in 1964 while 31 publications spent $10,059,685 in Canada.

The report said 711 newspapers, including dailies in the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico and the West Indies, have plans to spend $121 million this year.

Record Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council reported today that the 3,500 traffic fatalities in the first month of 1965 were the most in any January. The total was a gain of 9 per cent over the toll for January 1964.

6,000 Marines Leave Hawaii, Due In Okinawa

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — A 6,000-man Marine brigade boarded ships Wednesday night, reportedly bound for Okinawa to replace 3,500 Marines sent to South Viet Nam early this week.

"The Marines are moving," said a spokesman for Adm. U.S.

Grant Sharp, Pacific military commander. There was no other official comment in Hawaii on the troop movement.

The 1st Marine Brigade members were moved from Hawaii's Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station to Pearl Harbor by truck convoy last month.

Original plans were for the Marines to take part in Operation Silver Lance, the military training maneuver off the California Coast.

But the first units of the brigade boarded ships Wednesday night for Okinawa, not California. About 1,000 brigade members are staying behind in Hawaii.

A report from Washington said the brigade includes helicopter units also bound for Okinawa, the main American military staging area in the Far Pacific.

4 From Ohio Are Killed In 2-Car Crash

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—The weather was changeable, marked by snow flurries which sprang up suddenly and furiously and then disappeared in sunshine.

But at 10:25 a. m. Wednesday near the Marion-Delaware County line, U. S. 23 was dry, the highway straight, the grade slight. It was only cloudy, not snowy, and visibility was good.

A minute later, two cars collided head on. The toll: Four dead, no survivors.

The Ohio Highway Patrol identified the dead as:

Wayne Delbert Churchman, 42, one of the drivers, from Reynoldsburg, a Columbus suburb. Isaac Cole, 42, the other driver; T. C. Jones, 43, and Timothy Good, 23, all of Columbus and all passengers in Cole's car. Good died three hours after the accident in a hospital here. The others who were killed outright.

Board President Hits Salary Increase Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An administration proposal for a $200 across-the-board pay raise for teachers is a "piecemeal, patchwork plan" that would totally ignore all other school employees, the president of the Canton Board of Education says.

Loren Sours Jr. made the assertion Wednesday night before the House Education Committee, which is considering the school lobby's initiated bill to increase the state sales tax from three to four cents on the dollar.

Junior Editors Quiz on ABACUS

QUESTION: How does an abacus work?

ANSWER: An abacus is a device for adding and subtracting numbers. It was used in the old days of Greece and Rome and still is the companion of the Chinese bookkeeper. There are several kinds. The one we show is composed of buttons strung on wires. Each button below the bar at the extreme right represents 1. The button above the bar stands for 5. The values of the other buttons are shown. Notice, in (1) that the 5 button has been pushed down and a single 1 button has been pushed up below the bar, so the abacus is giving the total number 6. Suppose you wish to add 6 and 2. You push two more 1 buttons up as shown in (2). Now look at (3) and see what number the abacus gives as an answer. The 5 button is toward the bar and so are the 1 buttons, making 8, which is the answer. To subtract 1 from 4, you would move four of the 1 buttons up to the crossbar to represent the first part of the problem. Then push one of these down. This leaves the abacus giving the answer, 3. Other wires give higher numbers. To put 127 on the abacus, push one of the 100 buttons up, two of the 10's, push down the 5 and push up two of the 1 buttons.

FOR YOU TO DO: There may be an abacus at your school, or one of your friends may have one. Try to locate one and work it as we have shown. You might make one of wires and buttons.

Marlita McCully of Denver, Colo., wins this week's grand prize of a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I will soon be 16 but I'm about 100 years old in terms of suffering.

My parents have been married 18 years. I'm the oldest of five children. Everybody in town knows my father is running around with a young girl who works around the corner from his place of business. They have lunch together every day and he even takes her to the movies and out dancing.

Mom acts as if everything is perfect. When Dad telephones at 6 o'clock and says he isn't coming home to dinner, she says, "That's all right, dear. Thanks for calling." Then she tells us kids that Dad is working hard for us.

This fractures me. I'm dying to tell Mom what really is going on because I hate to see her made a fool. Help Please. — XXX.

DEAR XXX: Say nothing. If everyone in town knows about your father's disgraceful behavior your mother knows, too. She is trying to cover up for you kids. Pretending of this kind calls for tremendous courage. Your Mom deserves your respect and admiration.

Have a talk with your father, however. Tell him you know about his high jinks and you think he should know that he's the subject of much ugly talk.

Bugged

Dear Ann: We tried to raise our children with a good set of values. The money has been set aside for their education and we feel that college is essential these days.

Our 17-year-old daughter decided last week that she doesn't want to go to college. She thinks it would be fun to "get out on her own." Is it possible that her obsession with so-called singing groups has warped her mind?

She spends all her money for records and magazines about her "idols." When she isn't listening to records she is on the phone discussing them. She had aims and ambition until these singing groups came along.

Are we wrong to insist that she go to college? Help, please. — R.C.M.

Dear R.C.M.: Don't blame the "so-called singing groups" because your daughter has no interest in going to college. The real reason for her lack of motivation goes much deeper.

No one should have privilege. The young person who goes to college to do his folks a favor wastes their money and his time and I am against it.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS
Family Matters Are Private Affairs

A good rule for us parents to observe is to treat all family matters as strictly private. If we feel the need of advice we should consult an expert. It is of first importance that we married couples don't discuss with our relatives, pals and friends what we suppose are faults and Dr. Garry Myers errors in our spouse. When we do discuss such matters, we impair our relationship with him or her. Many a marital discord, even some divorces, have seemingly innocent beginnings in this way.

Next in importance for us to avoid is discussing personal traits, ways or problems in our children with anybody but a specialist — physician, family counselor, or child guidance expert. No competent expert repeats to others what we confide in him. He's above the level of gossip. There are exceptions of course. An occasional relative or friend, having won our confidence deservedly, may sometime prove helpful to us.

WHEN TWO or more mothers are together, the name of one or more of their children may be heard. How often children are freely discussed at larger gatherings — at a club, church meeting or a cocktail party. Sometimes the mothers then vie with one another at relating undesirable traits and ways in their children.

Sometimes the contest is at citing instances disguised to indicate how clever or gifted a child is. The reporting mother may feel she has thereby raised her status. Such practices often degenerate into despicable gossiping. Usually, too, the mother who seems to be bragging grows unpopular with other mothers present.

Whatever is said about the youngster under three or four may never get back to him. Yet the mother who often talks among other mothers about him is getting ready to continue

AS YOU can see, we need to be very skillful in all such matters. We need to keep asking ourselves how the guests will feel and how the child will feel now and later. Our guiding principle should be that we are going to treat our child as the precious individual he is, growing up as a normal person.

My bulletin, "A Parent's Prayer," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.
